INFORMATION

We never stop rockin'

Martin Peter's album "Enough Of This?!" on ANGORA STEEL has been a brilliant piece of "Electro Pogo shit which was bloody fun for everyone" (Spex) ever since its release. The "Electro-Overkill" (Schallplattenmann) will carry on with some amazing remixes of "Psychoville" feat. Mark Stewart.

The first track was treated by the upcoming duo Digitalism. Already known for their pogo-orientated dj sets, their first single "Idealistic" on KITSUNÉ made quite a buzz and has been kicked by DJs like Kid Alex, Moonbootica, Martini Brös or Boris Dlugosch. Here they go again with a rocking remix of "Psychoville". You should also look out for their remixes for Munk "Disco Clown" (Gomma) and Sono "A New Cage" (Pias).

After his debut "Dual" and 12inches "Plastik Passion" (with legendary John Tejada Remix), "Universal Unit", "Protection" (with Michi Lange re-edit) and his latest "Transmission", Ben Mono will release his second album on COMPOST this autumn. With his famous remix of Gabriel Ananda's "Süßholz" on the Future Sounds Of Jazz vol. 10 compilation, he already showcased his remixing talent. Now he's sweetening summer time with this soulful remix, meliorating "Psychoville" with his typical Ben Mono sound which became his trademark whilst celebrating the spirit of electro.

The final track is delivered by Munich's underground celebrity DJ Mooner. Whilst busy with his own label "ERKRANKUNG DURCH MUSIQUE" and his famous wack party series "ZOMBO COMBO", he still found time to remix "Psychoville" in his very own and off-the-hook tremendous manner. Fruity bazooty.
